THE case of the 24 men who were charged coolie, Fong Ayau, corroborative of that with riotous conduct in connection with given by the master of the shop on Wednesthe clan fight in Stanley Street, on the 25th July, during which a man was stabbed to depth, was disposed of yesterday by Mr

day. It was stated that both defendants used threatening language on their first visit to the shop, on the morning in question. One of the men who were outside the shop. when the assault took place said he heard the second defendant incite the first to stab Fong A Yau; oh which the first defendant immediately thrust the iron weapon which he carried into the side of the shop-coolie. The case was adjourned till Monday.

MEETING OF THE LEGISLA-

TIVE COUNCIL. A meeting of the Legislative Council was BRICKLAYER named Chan Ahing was held this afternoon. There were present : charged at the Police Court to-day, on the H. E. Major General Cameron, Acting Gocomplaint of Mr Marcus Prehn, with dis- vernor; His Honour Mr Justice Russell, orderly conduct at Shek Tong Tsui. Mr | Acting Chief Justice ; Hon. F. Stewart, Prehn said he was an overseer of buildings Acting Colonial Secretary; Hon. E. J. in private employ. The defendant was Ackroyd, Acting Attorney General Hon. a bricklayer working at a new house near A. Lister, Colonial Treasurer; Hon. J. M. the Slaughter House. This morning he Price, Surveyor General; Hon. H. G. was telling some workmen's to lay down Thomsett, Harbour Master; Hon. P. Ryrie, coment instead of lime and water, which Hon: Wong Shing, Hon. A. P. MacEwen, they had been doing contrary to orders. Hon. J. Bell Irving, Hon. C. P. Chater; The defendant, who was working six doors off and MrGutierres (Acting Clerk of Councils.).

THE PUBLIC REALTH BILL. The Council resumed consideration, in Committee, of the Public Bealth Bill, at was not his business, whereupon the man Clause 19, which explains what is intook up a brick and said he would smash cluded in the word 'nuisance' Subhis head with it. He blew his whistle for section 1 is as follows:- 1. Any the police, and on seeing them defendant failure to supply or any inadequate or dropped the brick. The accused was fined defective provision of drain, drain-trap, ventilating-pipe, privy, subsoil-drainage or cess-peol accommodation, any building or part of a building so dark, or so ill-ventilated for so overcrowded as to be danger. ous or prejudicial to the health of the inmates or the clear cubic capacity of which is less than three hundred cubic feet for each porson or inmate passing the night therein, and any other matter or circumstance-whereby any premises are rendered

Hon P. Ryrie objected to the word privy in this subscotion, and moved that. t should be struck out; but it was explained that the word had been retained merein through a clerical error, and would thereore be struck out.

Hon. P. Ryrie-Then, Sir, with regard to overcrowding. I think the subsection is ery objectionable on that point. It is absurd to lay down a hard and fast line that every individual in every house in the Colong is to have three hundred cubic feet of air space to close in. I am sure this part of the subsection, if adopted, will cause a great being brought to bear upon the obscured dual of dissatisfaction and will be strongly objected to by the Chinese. We won't find it possible to be able to ascertain at any time whether every individual of a Chinese the eclipse was total) as that which we had family has three hundred cubic feet of air space, a family in which there are visitors requently coming and going. I therefore propose that those words to struck out. If course the question would arise whether a house with less than three hundred cubic feet of space for each individual was rendered unhealthy. The Chinese do not public prints; as well as statements else-Glegariney, apparently one of the things with which where that in ships for instance, as well as many other places, there is nothing like three hundred feet for each individual. The With regard to licenced coolie-houses, as the numbers to occupy them are to be fixed by law. I think we might regulate them : but on the other hand I believe it would be J. Leach, Acting Puisne Judge, in the impossible to regulate an ordinary Chinese fore I say this portion of the clause is, in my opinion, as well as in the opinion of a great many others in the Colony, most inquisitorial in character. would therefore propose that the words in the sub-section referring to accommodation be struck out. I think that would be an alteration which would be for the good of many of the Uhinese com-

> Hon. Wong Shing-I beg to second this inotion. This subsection is very objectionable to many of the Chinese, because whore there are so many people always coming and going and so many visitors it is almost impossible to measure a house and sayso many men many sleep here in this house, but if there is it will be overcrowded. I have much pleasure in seconding the

This section shall apply only to such districts or portions of districts as may from time to time be designated by an order of the Governor in Council. Therefore. have no objection to atrike out of this sub section the words or so overcrowded, and then strike out all the words after inmates. The chause will then read thus :- Any subsoil drainage or casspool accommodation or any building or part of a building so property attached, -Illustration number two dark or so ill-ventilated as to be dangerous His Excellency the Acting Governor hoped it would be quite understood that the discussion on this point would be resumed

Hon. Mr. MacEwen-Perhaps it would be well to inform the Council in the meantime of certain objections I have received from the Chinese with reference to this that the document was not a promissory unnecessary. The poorer classes of the They allege that they are too poor to afford more room to themselves and families on account of their low wages, and the high rent. items, notably the performance of the Jananese, were worth going to see for themselves alone, there was rather too large-a mixture of what was often repeated at the land, and Scotland equestrian scene; for example, is so stale that it might have been left out at the opening night. However, Signor Chiarini is perhaps keeping back a few of the best items in his programme for praduction later on. The cutertainment opened with an overture from the Circus Band. which doubtless was most gratefully received by the Chinese, while it was endured without too much strong language by the Europeans. Following this wast imuster of the troupe in what was called he Grand Mikado Cavalcade. The cavalcade formed in line and saluted their leader Miss Victoria Blancher and then went through a number of skilful evolutions. The next item was the magic screen and unbrella performance by the Japanese, Chojiro, a new and clever member of the Company. The Japanese stretched himself on back, poised—a—screen—on—the—soles—of his feet and the points of his toes and tossed it about in a manner which would have excited wonder had the feat been done by the hand. He did clever feats with an umbrella which he opened with this foot and pitched about from handle to point and from side to side. After he retired amid the enthusiastic applause of the audience, the Javanese por was trotted out. The pour if not an old acquaintance. is at least the relation of an old acquaintance. new clown was full of fun, and both he and his brother, Mr F. Godfrey, in an amusing meeting that they had, showed that they could use their hands and legs to good effect and that the joints of their bodies were well lubricated The last item in the first part of the proramine was a pas de deux upon two barebacked horses by the favourite cone trians, Miss Ida Stoodley and her brother Charles. The dance was pretty short, but this very difficult feat was cleverly done. After the interval the elephants appeared in the arena and danced capered, stood on their hind legs, jumped on tubs, blew horns and did other wonderful deeds. Following this was a clever equestrian performance by little Miss Rolland, who piructted in fine style on her horse as it careered round the arena. The next item was perhaps the best one in the whole programme. Two Japanese appeared. One stretched himself on his back and poised a long ladder on the soles of his feet. Up suspended himself by his arms and legs panese performed on a single pole all the wonderful feats he had been doing on the ladder, the pole of course all the time restting on the sole of the foot of his companion. After this exhibition of dexterity, 'Prince,' the horse with a wonderful bump of intelli gence was led in and showed his intelligence by picking up chairs along with the Clown and bowing profusely Then came some more equestrian feats by Miss Nora, who sprang and hopped through hoops with an airy grace and agility, Mr

Frank Godfrey filling up the time with. a little clowning. The programme closed with the thrilling performance by the tamer in the cage of the African lions, which doubtless delighted lovers of sensation. We are sure the vast crowd of spectators spent an enjoyable night, and we trust that

It is therefore probable that the popular assertion that the Dutch Government have in their possession documents a mly establishing the contested identity of Louis XVII is well founded: The recognition of Nauendorff's claims would have been contrary to the laws of the country and the regulation of the army. Perhaps the French Government foars that if the Paris tribunals were to consent to a hearing of the Nauendorff case and were to give an adverse judgment, the Dutch-Government would, an self-defense, come forward with positive avidence on the subject.

THE QUEEN DEDICATES A MONUMENT. -London, 16th July, The Queen mingled with the company assembled to see her lay the foundation stone of the statue of the Prince Consert in Windsor's great park with a freedom never seen in more formal ratherings. Accompanied by the Countess of Stafford, she walked past the stands and rested the ladies who were instrumental in making her a present of £40,000. Her reception of Mrs Gladstone was as kindly as if such an anti-royal theme as home rule had never been heard of. The wife of Gladstone was far from being a glass o fashion, wearing a blue silk dress which had evidently borne the brunt of a good many society squeezes. Mrs. Gladstone curtesied almost to the ground as the Queen extended. her hand, which the former kissed. Lady Burdett-Coutts was dressed in mauve, with an overskirt of magnificent black-thread lace. The Queen greeted her most pleasantly, her ladyship having worked very hard to insure the success of this tribute of the woman subjects to the Queen ruler.
